Management of Aggressive Behavior (MOAB)

Encountering in-office and in-school aggressive behaviors that challenge our patience do happen. Many entities have adopted plans that assign specialized school district personnel to handle these issues - including behavioral specialists, school psychologists, or counselors employed by the district. Educational Office Professionals are often positioned in front-line settings, and therefore can be "first to face" aggression exhibited by students, parents and even personnel for a variety of reasons.

Your requests for professional development span many topic areas, and dealing with difficult people is high on your wish list! To address this need, PAEOP has arranged to bring to you the opportunity to learn personal techniques through an international certification program. Join us as you learn to feel prepared for managing these encounters while you perform your tasks in the educational office setting.

"MOAB training presents principles, techniques, and skills for recognizing, reducing, and managing violent and aggressive behavior both in and out of the workplace."

"In this introductory session, participants will learn basic strategies to identify aggressive behaviors and avoid physical harm. This basic course provides an in-depth curriculum on how to identify, prevent and manage aggressive behavior through various de-escalation techniques. Upon successful completion, participants are able to identify the stages of conflict, when an assault is imminent and what to do in a threatening situation."
